STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Advocates Act enacted in May 1961 provides for a unified all-India Bar with one class of legal practitioners, namely, advocates who would be entitled to practise in all the courts in India including the Supreme Court. At present this Act extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir, the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu and the Union territory of Pondicherry. The object underlying the Act cannot be fully achieved unless it extends to those areas also. It is therefore proposed to extend the Act to the whole of India including the aforesaid areas. The Government of Jammu and Kashmir and the Administration of the said Union territories were consulted in regard to this matter and they have agreed to the proposal. It is proposed that the State of Jammu and Kashmir will have a separate Bar Council consisting of fifteen members, while the Union territory of Pondicherry and the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu will have common Bar Councils with that of Madras and Maharashtra respectively. The legal practitioners practising in those areas have been given the right to get themselves enrolled as advocates under the Act. If, however, some of the legal practitioners do not get themselves so enrolled as advocates, their existing rights will be preserved.

2. Under the existing Act, the term of office of elected members of a State Bar Council is six years with one-third of them retiring every second year and the election is held in accordance with the system of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote. In order to avoid frequent elections involving heavy expenses and for convenience, it is now proposed that election would be held every third year with one-half of the members retiring, and the system of direct election by a simple majority would be adopted.

3. Certain legal practitioners have, on account of disturbances, migrated from Pakistan to India and it is proposed to enable them to carry on their practice of law in India. As some of the State Bar Councils are finding it difficult to carry on their functions with the limited resources at their disposal, the Bar Council of India is being empowered to give financial assistance to any State Bar Council.

4. The working of the Act has revealed certain other difficulties also and opportunity is being taken to remove them by making suitable amendments which are of a minor character.

5. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects and the notes on clauses appended to the Bill explain the provisions thereof.

New Delhi;

The 21st September, 1965.

A. K. SEN.

Notes on clauses

Clause 2. — This clause seeks to extend the Advocates Act to the State of Jammu and Kashmir and to the Union territories of Goa, Daman and Diu and of Pondicherry. The date of commencement of the Act in the said State and the Union territories will be such as may be determined by the Central Government by notification and different dates may be chosen in respect of different areas and for different provisions of this Act. Section 1 has been suitably amended for the purpose.

Clause 3. — Section 3 deals with the constitution of the State Bar Councils. It is proposed to have a separate Bar Council consisting of fifteen members for the State of Jammu and Kashmir while the Union territory of Pondicherry and the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu will have common Bar Councils with that of Madras and Maharashtra respectively.

Section 3(2) (b) provides that the election of the members of the State Bar Councils shall be in accordance with the system of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote. On the suggestion of the Bar Council of India, it is proposed to substitute this system by the system of direct election by a simple majority as was the case under section 5 of the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926. This clause seeks to amend section 3 for the purposes aforesaid.

Clause 4. — Under section 8 of the Act, the term of office of the elected members of the State Bar Council is six years with one third of the members retiring on the expiration of every second year. The Bar Council of India has represented that elections to the State Bar Councils involve considerable expenditure and that it may be held every third year instead of every second year with one-half of the members retiring. This clause seeks to amend section 8 to achieve the purpose.

Proposed sub-section (2) is consequential in nature and is intended to bring the cases wherein election of one-third of the members has already been held before enforcement of this amending Act, within the purview of the modified provision.

Clause 5. — This clause seeks to amend section 16 of the Act with a view to making it clear that any special knowledge or experience in law will also be taken into account in designating an advocate as senior advocate.

Clause 6. — Section 24 enumerates the persons who may be admitted as advocates and the conditions they should satisfy. In sub-section (3) of that section, which was introduced by Act 21 of 1964, it is provided that vakil, pleader or mukhtar who has put in three years as such before the 31st March, 1964, may be admitted as an advocate. It now appears that certain Mukhtars and pleaders could not get themselves enrolled in time or have not been able to complete three years of practice before the specified date. This is a very small category of persons and it is considered desirable that they should be made eligible to get themselves enrolled as advocates. This clause seeks to amend sub-section (3) of section 24 to achieve the purpose.

Clause 7. — The Bar Council of India has represented that it has become difficult to effect speedy disposal of the proceedings before the disciplinary committee due to the absence of one member or other at a hearing. It has been suggested that a suitable provisions may be made enabling the disciplinary committee to proceed with the hearing of a case even in the absence of any member thereof. This clause seeks to amend section 42 for the purpose.

Clause 8. — Section 44 provides for review by the disciplinary committee of orders passed by it. It has now been represented that the Bar Councils should have also the power to re-consider any order passed by it. Prior to the commencement of Chapter V of the Act, orders have been passed by the appropriate authorities under the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926. The Bar Council of India has suggested that they should also have the power to re-consider such orders as well. This clause seeks to modify section 44 for the purpose. It is also being provided that any order passed under the new section shall not effect unless it is approved by the Bar Council of India.

Clause 9. — Certain State Bar Councils have complained that they do not have adequate funds to carry on their functions under the Act. It is, therefore, considered necessary to have a provision enabling the Bar Council of India to give financial assistance to any needy State Bar Council by way of grant or otherwise. This clause seeks to insert new section 46A for the purpose.

Clause 10.— Certain legal practitioners (pleaders, mukhtars and revenue agents) who, on account of disturbances, have migrated from Pakistan to India are unable to carry on their profession of law in India for want of necessary legal provision in this behalf. It is considered necessary to preserve for them the rights to get enrolled as pleader, mukhtar, revenue agent, as the case may be, under the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879 or other law relating to admission and enrolment of legal practitioners, notwithstanding the repeal of the same by the Advocates Act. New section 58AA inserted by this clause is intended to achieve the purpose.

With the extension of the Advocates Act to the State of Jammu and Kashmir and the Union territory of Pondicherry and the Union territory of Goa, Daman and Diu, the legal practitioners there have to be given the right to get themselves enrolled as advocates subject to their satisfying certain conditions. The rights of those legal practitioners who do not elect to be enrolled as advocates have also to be preserved. New sections 58AB and 58AC inserted by this clause are intended to achieve the purpose.
